Widely known as “the land of fire and ice” Iceland is home to some of the largest glaciers in Europe, and some of the world’s most active volcanoes. Iceland is also the land of light and darkness. The concertinaed black basalt columns provide a stark contrast against the thrashing white foam, making it one of Iceland’s most photographic gems. Then, Hrafnabjargafoss. This waterfall is not known by many and very few tourists ever see it. The falls spreads out over a series of cliffs and at one place it falls into a closed rock bowl. GLACIER WALK WITH CRAMPONS

Optional Activity
Approx. 3h to 3,5h duration

Along the way to the glacier, we will have a good view of the glacier lagoon and the area around the glacier. We start with a safety briefing and a short lesson how to use the crampons and the ice pick on the glacier walk. The glacial landscape is amazing and dynamic, including crevices, sinkholes and small black volcanic sandhills. Sometimes it's possible to take a look at the small holes or enter the caves. In winter the ice is blue and clear, the surface mostly covered by snow. During the summertime, the ice becomes more white and the volcanic ash which forms various patterns in the landscape is more visible. As previously mentioned the glacial landscape changes day by day which makes it even more interesting to see and explore. Sólheimajökull glacier is the ideal place to view geomorphology and the effects of global warming on glaciers.

INSIDE THE VOLCANO

Optional Activity
Approx. 5 to 6h duration

The dormant Þríhnúkaígur volcano is a unique natural phenomenon. This tour opens the door to a new world.

To be able to experience this wonder, all you need is the willingness to do a moderate 45–50 minute hike (to get to the crater) and the guts to descend 120 meters/400 feet to the bottom of the crater in an open cable lift. The hike to the volcano is an integral part of the tour, not only because of the breathtaking scenery, but also because it's the only way of getting to the base of the volcano. Þríhnúkaígur volcano is dormant – it last erupted over 4,000 years ago. There are no indications of it erupting again in the near future. The volcano's name, mostly unpronounceable for anyone other than locals, would be directly translated as 'Three Peaks Crater'. We need to walk approximately 3.5 km (2 miles) each way. The walk usually takes around 45–50 minutes (depending on the condition of people in the group). A guide will be with you at all times during the walk.

NOTE: Around 45 m inside the crater. The walk usually takes around 45–50 minutes · All safety gear, helmets, harnesses, etc. included · Will be served vegetarian soup · Moderate Difficulty

It is only a 2 hour flight from Reykjavik to Greenland. Be prepared to experience the unique atmosphere at Greenland's beautiful East Coast, home of the Kulusuk Inuit.

You will see huge glaciers and floating icebergs. Our guides will escort us from the airport to the engaging village Kulusuk (3 km/1,8 mile walk) where we can stroll about and meet some of the 250 local residents and view their quality crafts. Kulusuk is the gateway to East Greenland and the small settlement is an excellent introduction to the way of life in a settlement in the Ammassalik area.

Kulusuk lies on a small rocky island between saw-toothed mountains and extensive fjords, and it is almost always surrounded by icebergs and a glittering Arctic Ocean. In Kulusuk you will find some of the east coast's most skilful craftsmen, whose tupilaks are of exceptional quality. Traditional hunting and fishing are still essential sources of income for many families in the settlement.

In the tiny village of Kulusuk you will get a good glimpse of the everyday life on the east coast of Greenland. You will walk through this colorful village, visit a private museum that presents many of the arctic traditions used by the pioneers that inhabited this remote area, visit the beautiful church of Kulusuk and if the weather allows see the traditional Inuit drum-dancing show. All in all, a rich presentation of modern life in a remote arctic village on the east coast of Greenland.

On our return flight to Reykjavík we enjoy a spectacular view over huge glaciers and floating icebergs.

Ammassalik is known to local residents as Tasiilaq which in East Greenlandic means something resembling a lake.

Ammassalik is the largest village in East Greenland with about 1,400 residents. The town has a picturesque setting in a fjord surrounded by high mountains and bisected by a small river that flows through the town.

As it is only just over 100 years since the first Europeans came to the area, the traditional Inuit culture still plays an important role in day-to-day life. Ammassalik is only a 10-minute helicopter ride from Kulusuk, but this short flight is one of the most scenic expeditions imaginable as you cross the ice-filled sea separating these two mountainous islands.

On our return flight to Reykjavík we enjoy a spectacular view over huge glaciers and floating icebergs.
